

I travel 7 states by car and having XM radio is not only a comforting way to pass the miles I have to drive, it is a safety factor as I see it because I am not continually fooling with the radio trying to find a suitable station that I would enjoy. When I get to a large metro area it is nice to be able to tune into a local traffic program without having to hunt for one. I have recommended the XM SYSTEM to anyone who ask me about it. If you take away this service then you are putting me in situation where when I need to know about the weather and traffic I will have to fool with the radio trying to find a local station with the info I may need to help me avoid dangerous traffic situations and road conditions. I urge you to not let this be taken away from people like myself who not only enjoy this service but desperately need it.
Sincerely,
